4. Important information about how the network operates

The Esperance Sheep Surveillance Network (ESSN) is a program funded by DPIRD. It will operate until March 2022 unless otherwise indicated.

Members will participate in an SMS conversation each fortnight and will receive an emailed surveillance report each month. Members may receive additional contact from DPIRD via SMS or telephone if necessary (e.g. to inform members of a disease outbreak).

The SMS network is a surveillance tool and does not replace a timely discussion with a vet. Members who wish to receive immediate veterinary assistance should contact their local private or DPIRD vet as soon as possible.

For more information, please visit agric.wa.gov.au/sms-livestock-surveillance or contact:

5. Terms and conditions for joining the network

The personal details on this form and all other personal information gathered by the 'Esperance Sheep Surveillance Network' will be kept by the Department of Primary Industries and Regional Development (DPIRD), Western Australia and not shared with third parties except in a de-identified form.

Surveillance reports distributed to members will only contain de-identified data gathered from the SMS surveillance network and other DPIRD sheep disease investigations. This material is made available by DPIRD on the understanding that members exercise their own skill and care with respect to its use. Before relying on the material in any important matter, members should carefully evaluate the accuracy, completeness and relevance of the information for their purposes and should obtain appropriate professional advice relevant to their particular circumstances.

DPIRD will not be liable for any loss or damage resulting from the use of the material provided or participation in the network.

I, _____ agree to the above terms and conditions.
